Dear Tom:

Subsequent to the negotiation of Contract FI-5777 with Fairchild we deliberately changed the Contractor's quote from FOB plant to FOB destination to insure that the Contractor would be responsible for damage in shipment. Since the Contractor had not included transportation costs in his quote our contract provides that the Contractor can submit a separate prepaid invoice covering shipping charges.

I am enclosing the first such invoice in the amount of $102.26. Is there a fund of money from which these freight charges can be paid? I estimate the total charges through completion of the contract at about five or six hundred dollars. If a transportation account is not so available I can amend the contract with Fairchild to cover prepaid freight charges. I would appreciate any information you can provide on this subject.

Sincerely,

Dear Tom:

Please find enclosed a schedule of unpaid invoices received from LMSC as of 4/30/64 on Contract No. MM-1954. Would you have Mr. Myers check this out and advise us of your findings.

Sincerely,
